ANOTHER GOOD FIND IS MADE AT RAWHIDE

W. E. Casson of Carson City, who is interested heavily in Rawhide, has received some good news from one of the leases in Rawhide. A very rich strike has been made on the Viroqua ground, situated on the Rosberry estate on Hooligan hill. The fact that several parties are after a sub-lease tells the story. As says that have been made show most flattering returns, while a grab lot of ore that has been sent in shows free gold in nearly every piece.

Mr. Casson is endeavoring to hold on to this valuable piece of ground and hopes to be able to continue work on the new find. It is certainly mighty good looking ore and comes from one of the best claims in the camp. Some of the richest ore ever mined in Nevada comes from this ground and the new strike resembles the former rich rock that was uncovered on the Alexander lease, which is close to the new ground.

Word from Rawhide indicates general revival in the camp. The mill owners who have been working the leaser's ore since the camp started and who have been keeping the camp back by their inadequate treatment, have all decided that a cyanide plant is the only thing that is worth while. Two, if not more, cyanide plants are to go into the camp in the next few months and Rawhide will make a record that will put it on the map again. There is no question as to the values that have been uncovered in this camp. It has been merely a matter of treatment of the ores. They are practically all free and all that is needed is modern treatment which is now promised.—Carson Appeal.

A SEXTILLION.

A newspaper "scientist" recently made the statement that the progeny of a single fly in its life of 10 days, is as high as a sextillion. We do not know whether the learned gentleman has been counting specks on the window or shooting flies off the top of his pate while reading the comic section of a Sunday newspaper. It makes little difference, as this item is written purely for educational purpose. What we desire to do is to let those of our readers who may have forgotten know that the way to write a sextillion in figures is to inscribe a figure "1" at the left hand side of a sheet of paper (preferably white) and keep making eighths until you reach the other side of the sheet. If that doesn't amount to a sextillion not many people will be able to dispute it, anyway.—Clark County Review.

THE HIGH HANDSHAKE.

He put his hand on a level with the lady's chin. Reaching her own p, she said with a laugh:

"It is easy to see that you have been in the Philippines for some years, else you would know, my friend, that the high-action handshake, is no more."

He flushed and bit his lips.

"But aren't you glad?" said she.

"It was a silly thing that high-action handshake. My cousin, the Marchioness of Granby, told me how it originated. It originated in a boil under King Edward's arm. He had a boil there for some weeks. Hence he shook hands high up in the air. And the world thought it was a new fashion."—Exchange.

WANT HIS RESIGNATION.

According to the Ely papers the Presbyterian church members of that thriving city are having a bully good church war. Two factions are in the field. One insist that Rev. Greenfield resign, and in fact have waited on him and asked for him to get out. He has refused to budge. The other faction insists that he camp with the job. The reading is nearly as lively as the trouble that is brewing along the Mexican border.

TRUTHFUL JAMES AGAIN.

Which I'm free to assert

In a casual way.

That the new trousers skirt,

If it's coming to stay,

Will be a great boon to the ladies;

Which the same there is none

can gainsay.

Though a lady may snatch

Other laurals a few,

Still she can't scratch a match

In the way that men do;

But with trousers 'twill be a heap

different.

Which the same is decided my view.

And its gospel truth, gents,

As I frequently observe

That she can't climb a fence

Without showing her curves;

But the trousers skirt cuts out that scenery,

Which the same's a relief to our nerves.—Springfield Union.
